Human Resource Development Centre, KPTCL is spread over 15 acres of land at Hoody, Bengaluru, and functioning for the last 3 years. The existing hostel block accommodates only 104 trainees at a time and is insufficient considering the training needs of KPTCL and ESCOMs. It is felt that the existing infra-structure needs to be upgraded by constructing an additional Hostel block for the trainees, an executive hostel block for senior officers/resource persons coming to impart training, an Auditorium of about 500 capacity and a small amphitheater.

In this regard, in principle approval for creating additional infrastructure for strengthening / upgrading facilities at HRD Centre, Hoody, was accorded in Corporate letter cited under reference (1). Approval was also accorded in the said letter for obtaining Architectural and Engineering Consultancy services from reputed architects for designing the above structures, duly inviting tenders.

The Managing Directors of all the ESCOMs have expressed their willingness and suggested to improve the existing training infrastructure under a common umbrella and to establish a common training center for group 'A' and 'B' employees of KPTCL and ESCOMs at HRD Centre, Hoody, so that, investment on land and infrastructure by each of the ESCOMs could be avoided and this center could be developed into a State Level Training Centre as "Centre of Excellence", catering to the training needs of transmission and distribution sectors.
